

Dr. Rick Rasby Receives the GSD Extension Award

Dr. Bryan Reiling Receives the GSD Teaching Award

On November 2, 2008, the Nebraska Chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta (GSD) held its annual awards banquet. Of the five awards presented, two were received by members of the Animal Science faculty. Dr. Rick Rasby was selected recipient of this year's GSD

Extension Award. Dr. Rasby is a highly-valued, nationally-recognized beef specialist who has provided superb leadership and outstanding extension programming for more than 20 years. The other Animal Scientist honored was Dr. Bryan Reiling who received the GSD Teaching Award. Dr. Reiling is truly dedicated to teaching undergraduate students and his distinguished teaching is demonstrated in the enthusiasm of his students and the recognition of parents and his colleagues. Gamma Sigma Delta is an organization having as its objectives the advancement of agriculture in all its phases, the maintenance and improvement of the relations of agriculture and related sciences to other industries, and the recognition of the responsibilities of those engaged in all aspects of agriculture to humankind. The Society seeks to encourage high standards of scholarship and worthy achievements in all branches of the agricultural and related sciences as well as a high degree of excellence in the practice of agricultural pursuits.